Inmate labor available for debris cleanup after Hurricane Irene Requests must be channeled through NC Emergency Management

RALEIGH – Inmate cleanup crews are assisting with debris cleanup at multiple sites in coastal North Carolina in the wake of Hurricane Irene. Minimum-custody inmate crews will be available for cleanup assignments over the next few weeks.

All requests for inmate labor for storm cleanup should be directed to county emergency management offices to be routed to the State Emergency Operations Center (EOC) in Raleigh. From the State EOC, requests can be tasked to the Department of Correction or other agencies with similar resources. Contact information for county emergency management offices can be found at www.nccrimecontrol.org by clicking on Emergency Management.
